PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Fellow compatriots,

I just returned from the 141st Annual Spring California State Meeting. It was an honor for me to represent you there. Thank you. It felt good to be in the company of so many men whom I respect; some because they have done great things, others because they put in the hard work day in and day out to sustain their chapters...a great thing in itself.

I am happy to say the Best Chapter award was presented to Orange County! Best is another word for Great Participation! Every member of the chapter should take pride in contributing to this success. While it takes everyone in the chapter to make it the best, I would like to single out our Register (past State President) Kent Gregory and our Color Guard Commander (future State President) Jim Fosdyck for all the time they spent in new member follow up as well as the multiple color guard events. Orange County Chapter your future looks very bright.

Last month I learned of the passing of Walter Leonard Davis. I never had the pleasure of meeting him though I know many of you had. I heard he was an uncommon man with fervor towards promoting the OC Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution. I listened to many anecdotes about him and one that really hit me was he made sure that every speaker spoke about the Revolution. While this has digressed over the years his focus is a wakeup call to me that I must always hold true to not only the values of SAR, but to our wonderful history as well.

Such history is one of the precepts of SAR and for good reason. Our Society is one that not only educates about the difficult birth of American freedom, but it uses that history to nurture our youth as they mature into citizens. SAR helps our youth understand this unique American perspective through the many youth programs it supports. These programs are the gateways to a future citizenry engaged in the preservation of those values we hold dear. My gratitude to all those committee chairmen who are sowing the seeds for the future fruit of freedom.

Such fruit as already exists will be highlighted in our May meeting with its focus on Public Service. There is no better example of freedom than answering the call to public service. Whether it is a Minuteman or a Fireman, both put their life on the line in an instant to save others! A Policeman is no different. And these Public Servants all need good Public Leaders in government to help them be the most effective possible. May's meeting will be a celebration of those individuals who have answered the call to serve all of us.

Finally, Memorial Day. Every last Monday of May, the United States recognizes the people who died while serving in the country's armed forces. Originally known as Decoration Day it started in 1868, when the Grand Army of the Republic, an organization of Union veterans, established it as a time for the nation to decorate the graves of the Civil War dead with flowers.

This Memorial Day, as we say a prayer in gratitude to those who served this country so we may enjoy the freedom we have, let us remember this payment of the highest cost started 241 years ago on a little green in Lexington and it is still being paid today.

John R Ferris, MBA, CEM, CEFP, LEED AP Director,

SAR CRUISE

The SAR Cruise to Alaska is fast approaching. Those still interested should check with John Dodd at jldodd@earthlink.net. In his most recent letter you will see what is happening...

Compatriots: We are all set for our SAR cruise to Alaska and have enough folks signed up for the extension so we will be going on to Denali. I am sending this additional prodding email because at this time we have 4 cabins left at Denali and one gentleman who wants to go on the cruise as a single but would like to not pay the single supplement so is in search of a room mate. Additionally, we have one couple who cannot go for health reasons so we will probably have one of the pre-booked Veranda suites available. Other folks still may be accommodated if you would like to go. Please consider joining us. My last email on this is pasted below. Please let me know if you are interested and thanks for considering joining us on the adventure.

Thanks John Dodd

It was great seeing many of you in Louisville and discussing our upcoming Western District/Pacific District Cruise. We are trying to finalize the list of attendees by April 1, and, although a few may be able to join us after that, we can't guarantee it. Given the recent tragedy in Europe, this is an opportune time to plan some travel a little closer to home and see some more of the good ole USA. The details for the post-cruise trip to Denali have been ironed out, and the informational flyer on both the main trip and the post-trip are now available at the Western District website: http:// www.tjsar.org/western/Please join us for this unique experience capped off by the scenic train journey back to Anchorage.

Holland America's website for the Noordam notes all the Veranda Suites (the accommodation included in our package) are sold out. We still have a few in our block, and some Compatriots may elect the less expensive Ocean View staterooms, or the more expensive suites. Please let MAGIC know if you would prefer one of these alternate accommodations and they will see what they can do about making an appropriate adjustment. Also, if you would like to attend as a single, "there are others who have expressed interest in that, so they may be able to pair you up with a roommate to keep the cost down. However, the ship apparently if filling up rapidly, so it would be best to book soon. Here is the link for more information and to reserve a spot.

I spoke with Compatriot Lindley in Louisville, and we are putting together a meeting in Seattle before we leave, and also have been in communication with Compatriot Wahrenbrock from Alaska to see about a meeting in Anchorage when we get back from Denali, so this promises to be a special SAR experience. I hope you can join us. URL: http://prod.groupandevent.net/register/ SAR16 Password: AK16SAR (please note all characters are capitalized) John L. Dodd VPG, Western District

COLOR GUARD EVENTS

May is a very busy month for members of our chapter, especially our Color Guard. On May 20-22, Armed Forces Weekend, there will be the Field of Honor which takes place at Castaways Park in Newport Beach. Located on the bluff above Coast Highway at Dover Drive, the Newport Harbor Exchange Club plants 1776 flags. People are asked to purchase a flag on behalf of a relative who served in the Armed forces. This can be a parent, grand parent or even a Revolutionary War Soldier ancestor. If you go to http://www.healingfield.org/ newportbeach16/, you will find a video on past events. This will be your chapter's seventh year at this event as we have been there from the very start. From the website it says The Newport Harbor Exchange Club will again post three by five foot U.S. flags on white flagstaffs in Castaway Park to honor the men and women of our military who serve and defend our nation. 1776 flags will fly in ordered rows overlooking the Upper Newport Back Bay, the Newport Harbor and the Pacific Ocean as an Armed Forces Day memorial. This beautiful panorama must be experienced to be fully appreciated

Please visit and support the Newport Harbor Field of Honor® display of flags. Flags may be dedicated in honor of individuals for $45 per honoree. All are welcome to walk amid the flags to share this inspiring and memorable experience.

Those wishing to be a part of the Color Guard should contact Commander Fosdyck (ifosdyck@sbcglobal.net), and advise him so that he can give you your arrival time and when the activity will begin.

On Friday May 27th at 10am in front of Newport Harbor High School by the Flag pole, Jim Blauer will be leading off their Memorial service by doing the National Anthem. This service is open to the public and recognizes those alumni who gave the ultimate sacrifice.

On May 28th your Lee's Legion Color Guard will once again be in the Strawberry Festival Parade. Information can be obtained from Commander Fosdyck if you are interested in attending.

On Monday May 30 we will have our Color Guard at the Old Santa Ana Cemetery for the tricity observance and remembering of all our fallen Soldiers, Sailors and Marines. This is open to the public so all are invited to attend. There is limited seating so you may wish to bring your own chair (s) to be sure you have a seat. It runs about an hour with speeches and music. Hope you will be able to come out. This event was introduced to our chapter back in the 1990s by Compatriot Walter Davis. It was originally put on by the Santa Ana American Legion Post and Walter was not only a member, but served as its Commander. We still use the wreath that Walter supplied us with and have been using it ever since.

NATHAN HALE

He was born on June 6, 1755 in Coventry Connecticut. He was the sixth of twelve children and grew up on his family's prosperous farm. In 1769 at the age of 14 he entered Yale University in New Haven, Connecticut. He belonged to the literary fraternity Linonia. Members examined issues of the day which might include; academic topics such as astronomy, literature and mathematics or possibly the ethics of slavery. While at Yale he met and studied with Benjamin Talmadge, who would influence his decisions later in life. Talmadge would become General Washington's head of intelligence during the War.

He graduated with honors in 1773 and went to teach school in East Haddam and later in New London. He not only taught regular classes, but also offered classes to young women of the town. While in college he would often speak of the inequality of education between men and women.

At the outbreak of the Revolution in 1775, Nathan Hale joined the Connecticut militia and was elected first lieutenant. It wasn't until 1776, though, that he participated in military combat. In this year he was promoted to Captain in the Continental Army's 7th Connecticut Regiment.

On January 30, 1776 Nathan Hale's regiment, which had been stationed in Cambridge was moved to Roxbury where they successfully drove the British out of Boston by March.

During the Spring the Continental forces moved into Manhattan in an effort to prevent the British from taking control of New York City. Hale's regiment was ordered into the area by General Washington.

In an effort top obtain information of the planned invasion by the British, Washington sought a volunteer who wound go behind enemy lines to discover the location of the British invasion. It was in August and September while the Battle of Brooklyn Heights was taking place that Hale volunteered on September 8, 1776, seeing this assignment as a patriotic opportunity.

On September 12th Hale crossed enemy lines in the disguise of a Dutch school teacher. On September 15th while behind enemy lines, the British were successful in taking New York City. Washington and his army retreated to the north end of Manhattan, leaving Hale behind enemy lines. There is some question on how Nathan Hale was discovered as a spy. There are some historians who believe British Major Robert Rogers thought that Hale might be spying on the British. Rogers pretended to be an American Spy and tricked Hale into revealing his spy mission.

Another theory was that he was turned in by his cousin Samuel Hale who was a loyalist.

He was in Flushing bay near Queens, New York and was captured while waiting for his planned escape rendezvous. He was captured and taken under heavy guard to British headquarters in New York. He was questioned by British General William Howe. Having found evidence on Hale's person where papers were discovered in his shoes, General Howe had all the incriminating evidence proving Hale to be a spy. The papers showed detailed information on the fortifications as well as numbers of troops and their positions.

General Howe ordered that Nathan Hale be hanged the following day. Hale had requested a Bible and a visit from a clergyman, but these requests were denied.

He was granted writing materials and penned two personal letters, but these letters were destroved after his death.

On the morning of September 33, 1776 Nathan Hale was marched along Postal Road to the Park of Artillery where the hangman's noose awaited him.

According to eye witness accounts, Hale spoke eloquently prior to his execution. There are several versions of his final words. The first is "I only regret that I have but one life to give for my country". The second "I regret that I have but one life to lose for my country". Whatever version or variation thereof, he was summarily hanged as punishment for spying.

John Montresor a British Soldier was at the execution and heard Hale's final words. He repeated them to William Hull, an American officer. Hull had his words publicized throughout the colonies, which became an inspiration to the Patriots and their cause for independence

He is buried in Nathan Hale Cemetery in Coventry in Tolland County Connecticut. This is a 45 foot high Cenotaph. A cenotaph covers an empty grave when the actual burial place is unknown or elsewhere...

BOOKS ON NATHAN HALE

As the Revolutionary War began, Nathan Hale immediately joined up on the side of the Patriots. When General Washington needed a spy, Hale was the only man to volunteer for the job. In the end, Hale lost his life for his beliefs and became a true American hero.

In this impressive, wellresearched biography, Phelps separates historical fact from long-standing myth to reveal the life of Nathan Hale, a young man who deserves to be remembered as an original American patriot. Using Hale's own journals and letters as well as testimonies from his friends and contemporaries, Phelps depicts the Revolution as it was seen from the ground.

Words Deirdre Michalski

May is a month of patriotic celebrations. I unfurl my ribbon-adorned hats, and carefully select all the red, white and blue, flag-waving, troops-praising clothing I so proudly own. And, befitting any patriotic event, I even have a special outfit for my dog, Mr. Riley, to wear. Yes, the American flag is front and center on his back and appears to wave as he wiggles and waggles his way along the parade routes, or even just a celebratory stroll around Balboa Island.

In mid-May, Armed Forces Week cascades across the country. In many larger cities, patriotic events are welcomed, organized and applauded. Here locally, the Exchange Club of Newport Harbor carries the baton, and works tirelessly all year long to create a weekend chock-full of ceremonial events. This group has been in existence for 90 years. Seven years ago, Jerry Nininger created the Field of Honor program, which is a three-day event held at Castaways Park in Newport Beach.

Bill Bechtel later joined Nininger, and both have presided as past presidents and co-chairs of the Exchange Club and the Field of Honor festivities. The Exchange Club has numerous other projects during the year; however, the Field of Honor is truly a special one.

I always watch for the amazing display of flags that are so perfectly placed on the park grounds. Perched high atop the cliffs at Castaways Park (Dover Drive and PCH), the flags flutter in the gentle breeze, as if to be waving to me just below.

I say a little prayer for those who have fought so bravely. I think about those who have sadly passed away and those who are still with us. I am in awe of the freedoms we all enjoy today. We are truly blessed. Imagine a massive display of 1,776 flags, all carefully placed in the park and all around the monument. It is a dramatic and breathtaking sight to behold.

Here are some of the details for the three-day events and the wonderful call for community involvement. I am so pleased they include everyone–from young school-aged children to older adults and, of course, our veterans. I encourage everyone reading this to go to their website and consider dedicating a flag to someone who has served our country so proudly. Volunteers will place the flags in the park beginning on Wednesday,

May 18th. They will include a yellow ribbon denoting the military person's name, rank and branch of service and will be displayed all three days, from Friday through Sunday. During the weekend, guests who have dedicated a flag can add a picture, a poem or other memento to their flagpole, if they wish. After the event, those making tributes can take their dedicated flag and pole home with them. And, most importantly, the funds raised, as in years past, will support the following organizations: Wounded Warrior Project, Fisher House Foundation, 1st Battalion, 1st Marines Division (the battalion adopted in 2003 by the City of Newport Beach) and Coastline Community College Military Programs. NHExchange.net.

On Friday, May 20th, 2016, the program is focused on patriotism and our youth. More than 800 5th and 6th graders will be bused in from the Newport-Mesa School District for an educational event with special speakers, music and an educational celebration at the park. Saturday's program on May 21st will begin at Noon and will include a formal presentation by local dignitaries. The Presentation of Colors will be executed by the Marine Corps Color Guard from Camp Pendleton, followed by other musical performances and tributes. On Sunday, May 22nd, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., it will be "Honor Our Vets" day, and guests can come and meet (and hopefully thank) vets who have so graciously agreed to be there. Sprinkled all around the park with umbrellas and chairs, come have a chat and meet a vet. Here is your chance to meet and thank a vet personally. And, right on the heels of this great weekend of festivities will come Memorial Day, the Balboa Island Parade in early June, Fourth of July and, of course, Labor Day! So, let's do this! Let's honor our vets and show our patriotism. Wave our flags proudly. Mr. Riley and I will be there at the Field of Honor in all our red, white and blue finery. Hope to see you out there as well!
